DJJ Technologies & ATSG Announce Strategic Enterprise Grade Cloud Partnership, Enhanced Voice Product Portfolio

Offers performance, flexibility, affordability and security for organizations of all sizes.

ISLANDIA, NY— May 21, 2018 - DJJ Technologies Inc., a diamond integrator for global business communications leader Avaya (NYSE: AVYA) and a premier, full-service provider of Voice, Video, Data and Support systems, has announced a new strategic alliance with ATSG, a tech-enabled managed services and solutions company.

The alliance underscores DJJ's commitment to developing visionary solutions for its customers' rapidly-evolving telephony and IT needs. The partnership leverages the proficiencies of these two leading providers to deliver collaborative, cross-platform strategies for companies wanting to migrate their businesses to enterprise-level managed cloud solutions. ATSG's Managed Technology Solutions as a Service (TSaaS) offerings—including rediTech, rediCloud and rediManage—and DJJ's EDGE portfolio of pCloud, Hosted and On-Premises solutions present a powerful toolset for engagement that allows companies to focus less on infrastructure and more on the applications and customer relationships important to their businesses.

"Our partnerships are formed because our customers are asking for these type of solutions," said Edward Dolan, DJJ's Executive Vice President. "The strategic partnership with ATSG is consistent with the DJJ approach to customer relationships. We partner with Best of Breed solution providers and we consider ATSG to be just that. We're looking forward to working together with ATSG."

DJJ's expertise in Avaya's diverse portfolio, together with ATSG's Network as a Service (NaaS) offerings as a Cisco integrator and its strong focus on Microsoft solutions through the recent acquisition of New Jersey-based Quality Technology Solutions, presents a symbiotic alliance for both integrators to deliver customer-centric IT solutions.

"We are very excited to partner with DJJ Technologies, which further expands ATSG's rediCloud offerings into the marketplace." said Anthony D'Ambrosi, President ATSG. "We view this new strategic partnership as highly complementary to our existing offerings, which will provide our clients with additional benefits for both their managed services and enterprise collaboration requirements."
